

Purpletop

Tridens flavus

When mass planted, it is an effective ornamental grass owing to its reddish-purple inflorescence (seed head). The plant turns brown in fall. Found in a variety of habitats including old fields, prairies, open woods, and roadsides. It is tolerant of road salt.

Bloom Season:	Mid Summer - Late Fall
Flower Colors:	Purple
Soil Tolerance:	Average, Clay, Sandy, Dry, Moist, Well drained
Height: 2.5-7 feet	Spread: 1-2 feet
PERENNIAL

