

Great Blue Lobelia

Lobelia siphilitica

Great Blue Lobelia is a great choice for shaded gardens. It may also be planted in full sun if the soil is kept moist. This wildflower prefers consistent moisture, and is a good choice for rain gardens. The beautiful blue flowers bloom from midsummer to early fall, attracting butterflies, bees, and hummingbirds. Toxic if eaten.

Bloom Season: Mid Summer - Early Fall

Flower Colors: Blue

Soil Tolerance: Clay, Moist

Height: 2-4 ft Spread: 1-2 ft

PERENNIAL

